October 2023

Motorcycle futures market overview

Again, the news has possibility seen the potential short-term change in the supply of motorcycles as the poor weather sees lower new registrations for two months. The latest Motorcycle Industry Association new registration figures available for August have again shown a shrinking of the new market when compared to 2022. Total registrations are down 632 (-7.1%) for August and the year-to-date retreated by 3,321 (-4%).

Slightly better news that could have longer term effects is that High Street lenders have started to reduce interest mortgage rates further. Hopefully this is the stabilisation that is necessary so people can plan better fiscally and of course gain some confidence to start spending again.

Comparison to the last "normal" year, 2019, where the comparable month saw 6,924 registrations and Y-T-D was 76,305, this year has increased 18.5% and 5% respectively over 2019. Over the last decade as stock has become more difficult to get, we have seen prices increasing which also led long-term residual value expectations to also increase. Even with the current unsettled economic global situation, history tells us that recovery should be on the cards at some point in 2024 to a smaller extent with an even brighter outlook past that. As this product is looking to predict values past this recovery, the opinion is still for robust prices moving forward.
