

February 2024

Motorcycle futures market overview

The UK's economy grew by 0.3% in November helped along by Black Friday retail sales, after a small shrinkage in the previous month, but as there has been little growth over the year. Economists are saying its a close call as to whether the UK avoids a downturn.

Slightly better news on the inflation front, it dropped to 3.9% in the year to November, down from 4.6% in October, but a slight increase to 4% the following month.

Good news on interest rates, the Bank of England have held rates at its last three meetings. There is still be a lot of 'fence sitting' from both experts and the public as to what will happen over the coming year with conflicts continuing, if not escalating and elections on the horizon all going to play their part in world economics.

But as Monitor is concerned with predicting residuals beyond the neat year, its more useful to have indicators as to when things do stabilise, what will the market be like, both in demand and stock situation. There has to be hope and even an expectation that as machines having PCP deals written now start to reappear into the market that most of the economic woes will have subsided into a more stable market.

The latest MCIA new registration figures for December, also conclude the year, so we can now see how 2023 faired. The model mix now returns to a more normal pre-pandemic one, where sub 125cc share is reducing, but as total registrations of 113,589 were 2,945 down from 2022's 116,534 (-2.5%), the larger types are growing. The positive being more chance of increased PCP business and a more predictable stock availability further down the life cycle.

A big shake-up not just for our industry but for the larger automotive world is alternative fuels are on the way. Research is suggesting a reticence of funders to enter the market until more is known of the acceptance from both the trade and customers. Ater the pandemic rush for new riders, delivery operators and commuters vastly increased EV numbers over a short period of time, 2023 and the return to a more historic market saw big declines in the amount sold new. The used market is more subdued than enjoyed in the ICE market, dealers who have little or no experience with electric machines are quite rightly avoiding them until some clarity of acceptance and price is available. From the early introduction of EV into the market the opinion in the motorcycle Monitor product has been one of caution, where residuals have been set some way behind what would be expected of an equivalent fossil fuelled machine. As has been seen in the car and LCV market, with tumbling used prices, there is still no change in this view until strong, demonstrable acceptance has been seen for a sustained period.
